ANA Offers Posters, Exhibit Templates and More for 2006 National Coin Week Celebration

Colorado Springs, Colorado – The American Numismatic Association and the coin collecting hobby will celebrate National Coin Week April 16-22, 2006 with the theme, "A Penny Saved is History Learned."

To help collectors encourage people in their communities discover the fun of collecting, ANA has developed materials, including a complete PDF ready-to-print two-case exhibit, "Benjamin Franklin: A Man for All Times."

"We are excited to offer these innovative resources on-line so collectors can host their own displays," said ANA Museum Director Tiffanie Bueschel. "All they need to add are their own numismatic materials."

The full-color exhibit template, posters, a sample press release and proclamation, images and a promotional brochure are all available at www.money.org. Click on "National Coin Week" from the "Numismatic Events" drop-down menu.
