ANA Accepting Papers For Sundman Lecture Series

COLORADO SPRINGS – The American Numismatic Association is accepting papers on “Money That Made History,” from authors who would like to make presentations at the second annual Maynard Sundman/Littleton Coin Co. Lecture Series.

Six authors will be selected to make presentations August 17 at the ANA’s World’s Fair of Money in Denver. Selected presenters will receive a $250 honorarium.

Submissions, which are due April 30, should be abstracts of 500 words or less, and include an introduction, methodology and sources, and discussion sections. Abstracts will be evaluated based on originality, persuasiveness and relevance to the topic.

Lectures will focus on numismatic milestones and icons with an important connection to history, culture and the hobby. Priority will be given to papers that emphasize new research and scholarship.

For more information or to submit an extract, e-mail brunner@money.org, call 719-482-9872 or write: Lane J. Brunner, Ph.D., Director of Numismatic Outreach, American Numismatic Association, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903
