ANA announces East Coast Grading and Counterfeit Detection Seminars

(Colorado Springs, Colorado) The American numismatic Association (ANA) Outreach Department is partnering with the New England Numismatic Association (NENA) and the North Carolina Numismatic Association (NCNA) to bring Grading and Counterfeit Detection classes to the East Coast.

An Introduction to Counterfeit Detection and Introduction to Grading United States Coins will be held during two one-day seminars at the Wayfarer Inn in Bedford, New Hampshire September 28 and 29, 2005. The classes will be lead by grading and counterfeit detection expert, Mary Sauvain. Immediately following the seminars is the New Hampshire Coin and Currency Expo at the same location.

Hickory, North Carolina is the location of a Fundamentals of Grading two-day seminar lead by ANA Outreach Director, Dr. Lane Brunner. The class will be held in conjunction with the 2005 NCNA Convention at the Hickory Metro Convention Center on Friday and Saturday, September 30 – October 1, 2005.

Knowledge of coin grading and counterfeit detection not only makes you more confident on the bourse floor, but also adds to your enjoyment of the hobby by helping take the worry out of numismatic purchases. Learn the intricacies of counterfeit detection and grading United States coins in these highly enriched hands-on seminars.

For more information or to register for these seminars, please contact Barbara Olson in the ANA Outreach Department at 719-482-9826.

The American Numismatic Association is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to educating and encouraging people to study and collect money and related items. With nearly 33,000 members, the Association services the collecting community and the general public with an interest in numismatics. The ANA helps all people discover and explore the world of money through its vast array of programs including its education and outreach, museum, library, publications, conventions and seminars.
