Summer Seminar is a once-a-year opportunity for numismatic scholarship and camaraderie — a place where you make friends for life, expand your knowledge, and have a truly unforgettable experience.

You will be exposed to fascinating subjects presented by world-class instructors and other students who share your passion for numismatics. Optional tours, seminars and special events round out a perfect week (or two) of numismatic immersion.

Classes are held on the campus of Colorado College, a nationally prominent, four-year liberal arts college founded in Colorado Springs in 1874. A variety of tuition and lodging options are available to better meet your needs, preferences and budget.

An enthusiastic exchange of ideas and plenty of “numismagic” awaits you!

About SUMMER SEMINAR

For more than 40 years, Summer Seminar has featured classes to suit virtually every collector's hobby needs. Here are just some of the topics offered this year: Grading United States Coins, Detecting Counterfeit and Altered Coins, Coin Photography, Ancient Roman Coinage, National Bank Notes, Colonial Americana, Morgan Dollars, Indian head Cents and Fractional Currency.

Your classes are true seminars: students gathered in small groups with everyone an active participant. You'll learn from instructors who are recognized leaders in their fields, and from the collective experiences of fellow students, who range in age from teenagers to seniors.

Students may select from a variety of tuition and lodging options to meet their needs, preferences and budget. Most stay in Colorado College campus dorms, but many elect to stay in nearby hotels and inns. More details can be found on page 22, and on the registration form (pages 23 and 24).

Optional tours, seminars, lectures and special events allow students to customize their experience. Students also have many opportunities to visit the ANA's Edward C. Rochette Money Museum and Dwight N. Manley Numismatic Library. Those traveling with family members or guests will find the Tours and Events (page 10), Family Activities (page 11) and the Intersession activities (pages 12-13) of particular interest as many non-numismatic opportunities are available. Those not wishing to join an organized activity may also choose to visit any of the hundreds of great attractions, restaurants and entertainment venues of Colorado Springs and the Pikes Peak region — one of America's most popular family tourist destinations.

Rarely do students or instructors attend just one Summer Seminar. More than 70 percent of them come back time and time again for the education, friendships and camaraderie. There are reasons our students and instructors are so loyal and enthusiastic about Summer Seminar. Try it and see.

Dedicated Young Numismatists Welcome

While the majority of students are adults, more than 40 young numismatists — ages 13-17* — grace Summer Seminar each year, bringing youthful enthusiasm and new perspectives to classes. Over the years, many of these YNs have become hobby leaders, and many of Summer Seminar's veterans have played a key role in encouraging their success. YNs stay in a Colorado College dormitory with counselor supervision. During the week, YNs have the same opportunities as adult students. They attend class during the day and can take mini-seminars or tours in the evening. YNs also organize and conduct a benefit auction, with all proceeds directly benefiting the YN Summer Seminar Scholarship Fund, which helps dozens of YNs attend the best educational event in numismatics every year.

E. Fractional Currency: The Notes and Stories Behind Them • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 18-19, 6:30-9:30 PM

Fractional currency from the Civil War era is still legal tender. As the Civil War began, the value of metals increased and soon exceeded the face value of circulating coinage and people began hoarding coins or selling them for their melt value. The resulting coin shortage made buying small items or making change very difficult. We'll explore the many responses to the coin shortage (merchant scrip, stamps, postage envelopes and encased postage), but will focus on the Treasury Department's five issues of Postage and Fractional Currency (paper money under $1) issued from 1862 to 1876, ways to pursue a collection, and some of the scandalous stories related to this fascinating part of our history.

Intersession Activities

Offered between Session 1 and Session 2, Intersession activities are a wonderful opportunity to explore some of the area's great attractions, attend the local coin show, and enjoy an educational lecture or two.

Are you one of those collectors with an email address to match your specialty or even your favorite coin? We think you may be addicted. But don't despair, there's a support group for that, and they meet during "Intersession," the two days between week one and week two of Summer Seminar. This is where you will find collectors and numismatists who share your enthusiasm and passion for the hobby, and who speak your language.

Last year, we successfully introduced private dinners for our Intersession attendees, followed by stimulating numismatic lectures. Our goal was to create an intimate evening of fellowship and a free exchange of ideas harkening back to that first Summer Seminar in 1969. It's easy to be a success when you keep company with people who uplift you, who, by just being there, inspire you to achieve your best.

This year, our Intersession activities just might entice you to extend your stay.

On Thursday, June 22, attendees can spend the afternoon at the local coin show, participate in one of our tours (listed on the opposite page), or take in the sites of the Pikes Peak Region on their own. That evening we will dine as a group and following dinner, David Stitely, currency collector and ANA District Representative, will delight us with his knowledge of "Collecting College Currency." During the U.S.

It's easy to be a success when you keep company with people who uplift you, who, by just being there, inspire you to achieve your best.

Industrial Revolution, many business schools produced their own distinctive "college currency" that students actually used to learn business practices. Topics include the schools that produced currency, the many varieties of notes and related materials produced, and the numerous ways to build collections today.

On Friday, June 23, attendees are encouraged to take part in the Royal Gorge tour or head to the local coin show for the day. That evening, we will once again gather for a private dinner.

Afterward, Rick Snow, professional coin dealer, author and specialist in U.S. small cents, will discuss a new grading system he developed that he thinks could revolutionize coin grading. Rick's lecture, "Using the PDS Grading System," explains the "planchet, die, strike" factors that make up this new grading scale. Grading inflation will also be discussed.

A NOTE ABOUT THE INTERSESSION DINNERS AND EVENING PROGRAMS: For those attendees staying at the college both weeks (12 nights) or those registered to stay additional nights (June 22 and/or June 23), all meals are included in the on-campus fees. Off-campus attendees can purchase the Intersession dinner(s) for $25 per person, per dinner (for registration form see pages 23 & 24). The evening programs are free and open to everyone. Questions? COUNTERFEIT DETECTION calls for attention to detail, even at the microscopic level.

23. Advanced United States Coin Grading and Problem Coins

This course concentrates on the nuances of high-grade, mint-state and proof coins. Students learn how to distinguish original surfaces from mint-state and circulated coins that have been cleaned or altered, and to identify minute imperfections and color variances that can affect a coin's grade. Learn the methods used by experts, as well as their own strengths and weaknesses.

Prerequisite: Successful completion of "Grading United States Coins, Parts 1 and 2" or permission from the instructor is required. This class is limited to 24 students.

Instructors: William D. Shamhart Jr., professional numismatist, Numismatic Americana, Inc.; Charles Browne, owner, Charles

Browne Numismatic Consulting; Ken Park, professional numismatist, The KMJ Group, and former grader, Professional Coin Grading Service; and Don Ketterling, professional numismatist, D.H. Ketterling Consulting

24. Detection of Counterfeit and Altered Coins

Learn the often subtle differences between genuine, counterfeit and altered coins, and apply your newly acquired skills using the ANA's counterfeit detection set of more than 400 coins — ranging from half cents to gold and including U.S., world, ancient and colonial coins. Students will handle "raw" genuine and counterfeit coins under direct supervision of the instructors.

Topics include counterfeit coin production and methodology, types of counterfeit dies and castings, date and mintmark alterations, specific gravity testing and use of microscopes.

25. Detecting Counterfeit World Paper Money

Students examine actual specimens using microscopes and the naked eye to distinguish good notes from bad. Topics include the history of counterfeiting, printing techniques, security devices and their illegal replication, raised and altered notes, and entrepreneurial counterfeiting since the 19th century. Students have the opportunity to handle hundreds of examples of counterfeit notes, while matching genuine examples side by side. Special attention is devoted to counterfeit notes that are created specifically to sell to collectors.

Instructor: Joseph E. Boling, ANA Chief Judge and co-author of World War II Remembered: History in Your Hands, A Numismatic Study

want to manage their digital coin collection, coin shop online sales, do research or diagnostic inspection. Learn how to organize a collection for selling, theft recovery, glamor images for publication or just to have bragging rights on the internet. Students learn how to properly take images following proven techniques that maximize speed and efficiency. To optimize the learning experience, students are strongly encouraged to bring the following: a DSLR camera with a macro lens, a laptop with Photoshop or Photoshop Elements, and several numismatic items to photograph.

Instructors: Robert Kelley, professional photographer, ANA museum specialist/photographer director; and Douglas Mudd, Curator of the Edward C. Rochette Money Museum

27. Secrets of the Flying Eagle and Indian Head Cents

varieties and collecting strategies. The course also covers counterfeit and problem coins. Students are encouraged to bring their own coins to augment the pieces shown by the instructor.

Instructor: Rick Snow, professional coin dealer, author and specialist in U.S. small cents

28. The Coinage of Charles Barber

Learn the history and coinage designed by sixth Chief Mint

Engraver, Charles Barber (1879-1917). Four of Barber's circulation coin series will be studied in detail, including Barber dimes, quarters and halves, as well as grading nuances of the individual series, the key dates, rarity ratings, varieties, and authentic versus known altered/counterfeits. Students will examine proof and mint state issues and review some of Barber's other designs with examples and hands-on work in class. Explore the collecting opportunities involved with Barber coinage, and share your experiences with the class.

Instructor: Glenn Holsonbake, professional numismatist, Americana Rare Coin; and Michael Johnson, avid Barber coin collector

29. Topics in British Numismatics

A topical approach to the numismatic history of the British Isles. Eight topics are discussed in depth with each class session dedicated to one topic. Historical time periods include Roman Britain, the Middle Ages and into the Modern Era. Coin iconography of Scotland and Ireland is explored, as well as issues in grading hammered and milled coins, among other topics.

Instructors: Allan Davisson, Ph.D., British coinage specialist, Davissons Ltd.; and David "Chuck" Bianchi, lifelong collector and student of British numismatics

30. An Introduction to Byzantine and Associated Dark Age Coinage

After the fall of Rome, the western part of the empire was thrown into a period commonly referred to as the dark ages. The Roman Empire continued in the east for another 1000 years and was the dominant central economic and cultural center of the Mediterranean for most of that time. The Coinage of the Byzantine era set the baseline for coinage of the Mediterranean basin during this time and is imitated and copied by the Germanic tribes that inhabited the east as well as the early Islamic coinage in the Levant. Starting with the currency reform of Anastasius this course focusses on byzantine coinage of the following 700 years as well as touching on the imitative coinage of the main Germanic tribes and Arab conquerors. Also discussed will be associated weights and seals of this era, giving the beginning student an understanding of the coinage, weight and seal types, how to read and catalog them, and interpret them leading to an overall introduction to this interesting era.

Instructor: Paul Murphy, avid coin collector and part-time coin dealer

31. Early American Copper Coinage II

An extension of the Early American Coppers class. Delve into lesser known aspects of EACs, including how these coins were distributed from the Mint, where they circulated, how to determine if a copper has been cleaned or altered, how restrikes were made, and how they entered the numismatic market. The class will also grade and attribute higher-graded coins. Topics are student-driven — if you want to know something, just ask! Bring your loupe and any coppers you would like to share with the class.

Instructors: EACers Stephen M. Carr, collector and author; and Douglas F. Bird, collector, dealer and specialist in early American copper coins

32. The Modern Minting Process: Errors & Varieties

Explore the minting process and learn how each procedure can lead to the creation of collectible minting errors and varieties. Class discussion and presentations focus on accurate identification and description, value and the fine art of cherry-picking. Students are encouraged to bring their own errors and varieties. Included is a field trip to the Moonlight Mint, where students can watch firsthand the production process from design phase to post-strike finishing, and press the button on a Grabener coin press (formerly used by the Denver Mint to strike commemoratives) to strike their own medallions. (Note: This class fulfills the The Modern Minting Process/U.S. Minting Errors and Varieties course requirement in the ANA Numismatic Diploma Program.)

Instructor: James Wiles, author of The Modern Minting Process/U.S. Minting Errors and Varieties: An ANA Correspondence Course

33. Making Money the Medieval Way: The Full Mint Experience

Learn how to “go medieval” on steel in this hands-on workshop where you will learn many of the tasks performed in a medieval mint, including creating your own coin dies in the pre-industrial style. Students will learn how to make punch tools, how to design and create dies with those punches, how to create planchets, and how to strike coins in the medieval fashion; by hand, with a hammer! Each student will be provided with ready to cut die blanks, steel for punches, and material with which to make planchets.

Instructor: Brian Ferguson and Bart Saxton, medieval coin minting enthusiasts

34. Intaglio Engraving

on work, students learn the rudiments of the bank note engraver's craft and create intaglio prints pulled from engravings.

Instructors: Christopher Madden, bank note picture engraver with the Bureau of

Engraving and Printing

35. The Art of Engraving

This course, underwritten by the Gilroy and Lillian P. Roberts Foundation in honor of Gilroy Roberts, ninth chief engraver of the United States Mint, teaches artists and art students how medals and coins traditionally are created using both sculpting and engraving processes. A two-year program, students from 2016 return this year to complete the course.

Instructors: Laura Stocklin, professional artist, trained goldsmith and printmaker

Be sure to check out the Edward C. Rochette Money Museum!

Bass Jr. Gallery featuring the highlights of the Harry Bass collection of U.S. gold coins and patterns, two 1804 dollars and a 1913 Liberty Head nickel, plus numerous other rarities. Session 2 Mini-Seminars Mini-seminars are introductory, hands-on courses conducted over two evening sessions. They allow Summer Seminar participants to study more than one area of interest or survey something new. Pre-registration is required.

F. National Bank Notes, the Big Picture • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25-26, 6:30-9:30 PM

National Bank notes comprise the most heated market within paper money but at the same time the most fickle for dealers to handle. Learn what National Bank notes are, why there are different series, what constitutes rarity, the importance of grade, how to judge a note, where to find information, and how to market a note.

Instructors: Peter Huntoon, author of The National Bank Note Issues of 1929-1935 and United States Large Size National Bank Notes; and Gerome Walton, author of A History of Nebraska Banking and Paper Money

G. How to Detect Artificial Toning, Frosting, and Reproofing on Coins • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25-26, 6:30-9:30 PM

Learn the color sequence of rainbow toning on coins, the difference between natural and artificial toning, and the difference between liquid transfer directional gas and air transfer toning. Analyze artificial frosting and reproofing of surfaces. Students examine all types of these coins.

Instructor: H. Robert Campbell, ANA past president, owner/operator of All About Coins and toning expert

H. Collecting "Oddball" Denominations • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25-26, 6:30-9:30 PM

Two cents, silver three cents, nickel three cents, twenty cents, and three-dollar gold all represent a group of oddball denominations often overlooked by collectors. However, these short-lived and often-neglected denominations have a wealth of rarities and varieties that make these series great. This seminar provides a detailed overview of each of these series, and includes a discussion of scarce and key dates, major varieties, collecting strategies, grading, and value. Course instruction includes interactive discussions as well as hands-on examination of coins from these series including key dates and a number of varieties.

Instructor: John Frost, co-author of Double Dimes — The United States Twenty Cent Piece, and education director of the Liberty Seated Collectors Club

I. Mexican Paper Money and the Banking System 1550-1910 • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25-26, 6:30-9:30 PM

Mexican paper money was born in turmoil and suffered an inglorious death a century later. In between, paper money issues trace Mexico's turbulent history from the U.S. Invasion (as it's called in Mexico) through the establishment of a powerful banking system, brought down by greed and corruption. Paper money was rendered useless during the Mexican Revolution and, by 1920, was replaced by a rigid metallic monetary system. Hundreds of images have been gathered for this class — the result of 36 months of research by the instructor.

Instructor: Ricardo de León Tallavas, Mexican coinage expert

J. Coin Shop Basics 101 • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25-26, 6:30-9:30 PM

Not all coin shop employees are numismatists. This course is designed to equip students with the basic concepts, rules and training required to work in a coin shop.

Instructor: Brian Fanton, owner and operator, BE's Coin Store

K. MPC Boot Camp • $79

Sunday and Monday, June 25+26, 1830 to 2130 hours (6:30-9:30 PM)

All Military Payment Certificate (MPC) enthusiasts are to report for duty! Mission includes basic to advanced study of MPCs. Deserters will be court-martialed!

Drill Sergeant: Carlton "Fred" Schwan, author of The Comprehensive Catalog of Military Payment Certificates and co-author of World War II Remembered: History in Your Hands, A Numismatic Study
