ANA Partnership with Hugh Wood Inc. Continues Following Risk Strategies Acquisition

A year ago, Risk Strategies, a leading international specialty insurance brokerage and risk management firm, acquired Hugh Wood Inc. and Hugh Wood Canada Limited, the U.S. and Canadian operating entities of global insurance holding company, H.W. International B.V. Specializing in insurance for collectors and dealers, Hugh Wood Inc. has long provided American Numismatic Association (ANA) members with collection insurance at significantly reduced rates. Despite the acquisition, the partnership between ANA and Risk Strategies Hugh Wood will remain intact.

"We care greatly about the future of our clients and our people," said Simon de Burgh Codrington, Vice Chairman, Hugh Wood Inc./Joint Group CEO. "We found in Risk Strategies a firm uniquely suited to carry on our traditions while offering new capabilities and options for our clients and people. It's a best-of-all circumstances arrangement with a great future."

Hugh Wood Inc. strengthens Risk Strategies' Fine Arts Practice with deep expertise in collectibles, including coins and stamps, serving both commercial dealers and private collectors.

"We have built a specific program exclusively for members of the ANA that provides coverage and rates that are significantly below usual filed rates from carriers," added Codrington. "We offer an exclusive membership program that offers significant savings, enhanced coverage, and a simplified application process."

Like Risk Strategies, Hugh Wood Inc. is known for its specialized focus and client-first approach, offering personalized service with global coverage access.

"We are delighted that Risk Strategies is continuing to support ANA members" said ANA Executive Director Kim Kiick. "This partnership provides our members with valuable insurance benefits, and we encourage everyone to take advantage of this resource."
